

Working with Clients

Making the transition from trainee to counselling practitioner

This one day workshop is aimed at counselling trainees and newly qualified practitioners with little experience of client work. We will explore the transitional process of moving from the skills-based environment of training to the relational focus needed when working with clients in a placement setting. Participation in the day will allow you to:

- Consider how to handle new challenges when working with clients
- Identify tensions inherent in discovering new ways of working
- Determine how to use supervision effectively to support this transition
- Explore ways of working with uncertainty and unexpected situations

Each group is limited to a maximum of 6 participants to allow opportunities for personal exploration

Course Information

Trainer:	Steven Wells, BACP (Accred.) and UKCP Registered Psychotherapist, supervisor and trainer—with over 25 years' experience of training counsellors and facilitating personal development groups
Venue:	South-east London / Croydon 5 minutes from Selhurst Station
Dates and Times:	Sunday 26th November 2017, 11:00am—5:00pm 6 hours CPD, certificate provided
Costs	£75.00 Payable at time of booking and subject to cancellation policy
Additional Information:	Light refreshments provided. Please provide a packed lunch which can be eaten on-site
Enquiries and Bookings:	Email: counsellorsteven@gmail.com Telephone: 020 8683 0116 Website: www.stevenwellscounselling.co.uk